

Course Creators

Johnstone Supply

Johnstone Supply offers training seminars nationwide for HVAC contractors. Johnstone Supply is the top cooperative wholesale distributor in the country and a recognized national leader in the HVACR industry.

Johnstone Supply views education as an essential, powerful tool that contractors a distinct competitive advantage. Our Johnstone University program offers intensive technical and business seminars to HVAC personnel, ensuring the most experienced, knowledgeable and helpful contractors in the industry. To make continuing education even more effective we have developed Internet courseware to bring product training and expertise anywhere in the country, accessible round the clock.

For contractors and technicians, Johnstone offers numerous educational opportunities to help propel them to the forefront of their profession, including online technical training classes and NATE certification.